

What Does Your Woman Really Want

By Cucan Pemo

Published by RetrieveALover

This Ebook is a FREE Bonus Version (It's a $17 Value!) You may pass this Ebook to all your friends and loved ones, or even give it away as a Free Gift or Bonus on your web sites and blog. All Rights Reserved. Please do not modify the contents and copyright information of this Ebook without written permission from RetrieveALover.com.

If you long for the return of a lost lover, if you are heartsick and lonely and despondent, there is something you can do about it!

All is not lost!

RetrieveALover Secrets

Limits of Liability / Disclaimer of Warranty

The Authors and Publishers of this information has made their best effort to provide a high quality, informative book. No representations or warranties of any kind are made with regard to the accuracy, applicability, fitness or completeness of the contents of this book.

The Authors and Publishers accepts no liability of any kind for any losses or damages caused, or alleged to be caused, directly or indirectly, from using the information contained in this book.

The Authors and Publishers disclaim any warranties (expressed or implied), merchantability, or fitness for any particular purpose.

As always, the advice of a competent, legal, accounting or other professional should be sought. The Author and Publisher do not warrant the performance, effectiveness, or applicability of any sites listed in this book. All links are for information purposes only and are not warranted for content, accuracy, or any other implied or explicit purpose.

7 Magic Words To Say To Make A Woman Feel Like You Were The Most Wonderful Mate She Could Ever Image.

When you know that you have found the perfect woman for you, you want to make sure that she feels the same way. You want her to be as happy with you as you are with her. In order to do this, you may want to figure out a way to make her know and understand that she has the most perfect mate for her. You will want to know what to say to her to make her realize that she has found her true love.

Say what is important to her

The first thing that you want to do is find out what is important to her. Find out if she wants her man to coddle of her or give her more freedom. You do not want to seem too overbearing and crowd her. Tell her that she is important to you and that you want to make sure that she has what she needs. This is something that will make her feel good and know that you are the perfect mate for her.

Tell her that she looks nice

The most important thing that a woman wants to hear is that she looks good. No matter where you are going or if you are sitting on the couch watching TV, you need to compliment her and tell her how wonderful she looks. This is the only way that you will be able to make her know and understand that you think she is a beautiful woman and she will think you are the most perfect mate in the world.

Ask her if she needs anything

This is something that a lot of men forget to do. It is important that we take care of the woman in our lives as she takes care of us. When we get up to get a drink, ask her if she needs anything. You are going to the kitchen anyway, so what is the big deal? On your way home at night, ask her if you can bring her anything. This is a great way for a woman to know that you are sincere and quite possibly the most perfect man in the world for her.

I love you

These are the three little words that mean the most. When a woman is in love, it is important for her to know that the man she is in love with feels the same. If you do, you should make it known. Women love this. You should tell the woman of your dreams that you love her when she is least expecting it. Tell her in the middle of a movie, on the way to dinner or on an unexpected phone call from work. This will make a woman feel good and happy with their choice for the perfect man.

Romance her

Do not be afraid to talk sweet nothings into her ear. Make the woman feel good by saying sweet and romantic things to her at any given time. You can say them when you are having a romantic dinner together or you can say them in a passionate moment. These words will make her heart flutter and she will know that she is in love.

Ask her how she is feeling

This is something that is hard for any man to do. Asking a woman to share her feelings with them is not always easy. In fact this is something that can totally be hard for a man to do. However, if you find a woman that is perfect for you and you want to make her feel the same about you, you may have to suck it up a little. Sharing feelings with a woman is one way to ensure that the relationship is going in a good direction that both people can feel comfortable with.

Be honest with her

When you want to impress a woman, you will have to be honest with her. Make sure that you are telling her the truth about what you want and how you feel. Tell her that you love her and that you think she is perfect for you. Sharing how you feel and that you want to be with her may be a great idea to bring the both of you closer. Tell her when you will be late and what you are doing. Do not keep secrets. This is some thing that most women will really appreciate and that a lot of men do not do in a relationship. When she knows that you are devoted to her, she will probably feel the same way and she will know that she has the right man to spend the rest of her life with.

10 Secret Techniques To Make Your Partner Want To Have More Sex With You

A relationship is very involved, both on the physical and the intimate levels. One person may feel the need to cuddle (such as your woman) while you on the other hand, don't want to be too close after you are relaxed, and feeling completely satisfied.

What you are going to find is that there are many things that are going to make your partner want to have more sex with you, and sometimes you are going to have to give a little, so you can get a lot more back in return.

Think about sex, and tell her you are thinking about sex, even if it is over the phone

What you may not realize is that women are going to think about sex more than you want to realize. A woman is going to think about how you talked to her, how you kissed her, and how you rubbed your whiskers on her cheek the night before. Your partner is going to want to have more sex, the more they are thinking about sex, and the more often you tell her that she is sexy. Make an intimate call. Tell your partner all about what you want to do to her, and how you want to do it, and then let her think about that all day until she gets to see you again!

Spending a few minutes alone, in the dark, as you listen to music

You might find it a little boring, but sometimes all you need to do, to get more sex in your life is feel a little closer, to put the hurried portions of the day behind you and just listen to a little music. Not many couples sit back, relax and just listen to music. Sometimes music is going to be very sexy, putting you or your partner, or both of you in the mood at the same time. Instead of just climbing into bed, and watching the news or the late show, you should turn on a bit of your favorite music and sit close with your partner.

Take a shower before you come and cuddle up close to your partner

Women are often turned on by the smell of cologne, or by the smell of soap. In taking a shower every night before you climb into bed, no matter how tired you are, you are creating a memory in her mind, of the clean smell she loves the most.

Use this smell and the need to be close to you for your own advantage, so you can have more sex, more often. Sexual attractions are very strong, and if you are not using your natural abilities to attract your partner, you very well could be losing out on a good bit of good sex.

Baby your partner for a while, stroking, petting and being beside her

Don't be afraid to play around and lick her neck. The worst thing that could happen is you fall asleep in each others arms, and you get a little more sex in the morning when she is refreshed from a good nights sleep – because she will remember what you want and what you felt like when she fell asleep in your arms. You will get more in the morning as she is sleeping well at night!

Don't be passing gas or burping before you climb into bed

You don't want to be the man in front of your partner. She doesn't want to see, hear or smell anything like that; it is not going to be a turn on. If you want to have more sex in your life, and bring your relationship closer as you are more intimate more often, pass on the beans, pass on the garlic, and be sweet smelling, and loveable – she will cuddle right up next to you more often!

Bring her a glass of wine at bedtime, and leave the lights on low

You might not realize it but all she wants is a little time, just five minutes to unwind and your partner will be ready for a little alone time with you. Bring her a glass of wine, tea, or just water as she unwinds and gets ready for bed. You will be thoughtful and insightful and she will remember these small things as you reach over and kiss her. Your partner just loves being the center of attention and this doesn't take much added energy at all on your part so you should give it a try!

Offer her a quick massage, nothing fancy or too long, just a brief rub down

You might not realize it, but the feel of your hands, on her back, and on her chest is going to make a woman feel good. If you want to put more sex into your relationship, you should show your partner a little foreplay, a little extra care. A woman is going to be turned on as you touch the small of her back, the inside of her breast – and why? Because no one ever touches her in those places except for you, and with this touch you are going to excite her more often, showing her that you are intimate and that you want to pleasure her every need. You don't even have to rub her hard, or touch her that long, just the soft gentle touches that show you are close to her will relay the message quite clearly.

Get in the shower with her, and let her see your hard on

She likes to get in the shower and take a good long hot shower, and this is your opportunity to get in on the action. Slide into the shower, and rub her down with the soap. As you lather her up, rub up against her and let her feel how hard you are. You don't have to have sex in the shower, just put her in the mood so she will be turned on and looking for action when she gets out of the shower. You surely already know what cologne is going to drive her crazy, so if you were to shower and put a little on, she is going to get turned on, and want you, even if she doesn't consciously know it. Taking a shower is not only going to freshen you up, but it is going to wake you up and your partner at the same time.

Talk sweetly and quietly so you don't wake the children

The little things you say will get you a long way when it comes to getting more sex. If you tell your partner just how much you love her, how pretty she is, or how much you feel that she is a special part of your day, the better she is going to feel about your relationship. As she feels sexier, she is going to want you more. As she feels happier, she is going to offer herself to you more often. You can get a long way with a partner when you are whispering goodies in her ear, and all without waking the children!

Don't just jump in bed, but slide into bed close to your partner and be next to her

Slide into bed; slide right next to your partner. Jumping into bed, and making a ruckus is going to make your presence known but you are also going to annoy your partner a little more often. You want to be comfortable, and make your partner comfortable, so carefully climb into bed and get close. As you are sitting close with your partner, stroking her skin, and feeling her next to you, both of you are going to be more aroused.

You will feel closer to each other and you will end up having sex more often. You can make this a habit, and when you see she is in bed with the music on, you are going to be in for a bit of sex again tonight. The trick here is to make it too bed, and not to sleep on the couch or on the recliner in the living room.

7 Simple Things You Could Do To Stop Your Woman Acting In Ways That Could Drive You Crazy

There are some relationships that are being stressed by how the woman is acting. For some men, they are not able to handle the nagging and the unpredictable behavior that goes on from time to time or in fact all the time. It is hard for the man to understand what they can do to stop it or help the situation improve. Separation is not always the answer.

Look for it

If you are doing something that you know is going to make her mad, you better be anticipating getting in trouble. Some examples are coming home late with no phone call, forgetting to do something earlier in the day for her; these are things that you know will get you into some kind of trouble. Be prepared. Bring some flowers home or a box of candy. This will help calm the behavior so that you do not have to listen to it.

Listen to her

Usually a woman will make it clear what she is mad about. This is not a secret. A man will need to pay attention and listen to what she is saying. You need to listen closely to what she is saying and sometimes you have to read between the lines. This will make her happy to see that you are paying attention and she may not drive you crazy as long.

Dealing with her

For some men, they have to completely tone the woman out. They are there but they have learned ways to zone her out when she is driving him crazy. Smiling and nodding is a good way to make it look like you are paying attention and that you understood what you are getting reamed out about.

Using the you is right technique

This one will give you the element of happiness and surprise for the woman. As soon as she starts driving you crazy, you can jump right in there with an "I know what I did was wrong". Or "I am sorry Honey". These will usually sweeten her up and you will not be in for the total package of yelling and irrational behavior that woman can sometimes get into. Woman love to hear their man tell them that they are right. This is the level of satisfaction that a lot of women live for.

Try to avoid it when possible

If you know that your woman is mad and you are not sure why, you may want to try and find out why she is so angry with you first. You may want to avoid her until you are in complete understanding of what you did wrong so that you can defend yourself when it comes time. Avoid her as much as possible until you have things figured out. You know like a backup plan, an excuse or a reason why you did what you did. This will help to avoid the entire blow up situation and give you time to regroup. You may want to try and not do anything that would bring out the woman's crazy side, but this is sometimes impossible.

Talk it out

If you and your woman are not getting along and her behavior is driving you crazy, you may want to try and talk it out. This is sometimes a great idea to get things out in the open and to make the situation better. Tell her that what you are upset about with the crazy nagging and so forth. This may be the chance you need to make her see how bad she makes you feel when the behavior starts.

Break up

For some relationships there is no fixing it. The behavior of the female is just too much for a man to handle. There is no point in making the entire situation worse by putting up with behavior that makes both of you unhappy. If the crazy situation is making both people unhappy, they may want to consider breaking up. This is a last resort, but one that may not be inevitable. It is better to break it off and be happy, then to stay together unhappy. You can break it off and remain friends and maybe try again later down the road.

5 Top Reasons Why Women Love Too Much, And How To Know You Have Met One?

Have you ever felt you were in love? That you would do just anything for that person, no matter how right or wrong you thought something was. Most all of us have felt this way at one point or another in our lives, even if the person we 'loved' knew nothing about our feelings. Men fall hard for a woman, in the early years, as we learn all about love, women, and what we think is going to attract a woman.

Loving too much can be a smothering feeling, that often times is going to push someone away as the feelings and outward emotions are just too much to handle. So, think about the women who have come and gone in life..... have you ever met someone who loved you too much? Perhaps smothered you with their love, and you felt that you just couldn't take any more and had to get a little more space? To teach you a little more about women, and why a woman wants to feel loved so badly, you are given the five reasons why women love too much.

A woman has a need to comfort others, even if she doesn't realize this, most women have this need, a desire to take care of another person – which doesn't have to be a child, but a man. A woman who loves too much is going to feel the need to give you as much of their selves to you as possible, as much as you will allow.

A woman wants to be the center of attention, and in being the center of attention, her love is going to demand all of your love. The woman who loves too much wants that in return. A lonely feeling that needs fulfilling is what drives her to seek all the love that you have to offer without limitations or boundaries.

Devoted want to give you everything. Many women are still products of their environment, brought up to be at a man's beck and call, devoting every last energy to the man of their dreams. While you may feel this is a good thing, that a woman wants to take care of you, and love you like no other, provide for your every whim and need like no other woman can do, can often be over demanding in the attention she is going to expect in return.

Women who have a low self esteem, a low confidence level will feel the need to love more than needed, more than possible, to be the center of your attention, meeting your every whim and need. Women who have a low self esteem are protecting you from needing anything else in life, because they are afraid of losing you, so they will offer you too much love, smothering you with their feelings as the relationship continues.

In feeling pity for the man who has been through a tough life, a woman will feel the need to love a man too much, to take away all the problems and pain in life. This all goes back to a need to comfort, to control, and to be in charge, and this type of woman is going to love you with all her heart, but she can make your life a living hell if you don't realize that everything she does is for your best interests. You will find that you constantly have to give her respect, or her overwhelming love is going to drive you crazy as you lose more and more of your freedoms as she 'smothers' you with too much love.

How will you know if you are with a woman that loves you too much?

- Does your woman try to do things for you that you can easily do yourself?
- Does your woman want to do more for you than she does for herself?
- Do you feel as if you are being treated like a child sometimes?
- Have you been embarrassed by the smothering feelings in public?

- Are you unsure of the next step in the relationship because you constantly feel as if you are being pushed into something more?

The difference between a man and a woman is that a man is confident in what he wants, and will work towards getting what he wants. As a man is accustomed to having what he wants he is most often going to give his partner a little more room in the relationship. Men are not very open when it comes to expressing ones feelings, or showing too much love. If a man were to love someone too much, and be too clingy, they are often times considered possessive and jealous.

A relationship can survive even if the woman loves a man too much. As a man, you may enjoy all the attention and overly motherly feelings of a woman who loves you too much. A relationship is going to survive as you, the man, continue to put your feelings, and thoughts out there for the woman to be known. Men can thrive on the love of a woman, by putting a woman in her 'place' at times, by telling her, when to back off, how decisions should be made and so on.

The man who allows the woman to make all the decisions and to take care of everything is only looking for divorce at some point down the road. Teach her to share the responsibilities, and teach her you are your own man, and show her that you can be independent and a couple at the same time. This is not something that is going to happen overnight, but in the course of the relationship.

What are the things a man mustn't say to a woman who love too much

A woman who loves you too much is going to expect that you love her as well. If you were to tell a woman, who has loved you in a manner that is overbearing for a long time, that she is overbearing and to back off, she is going to be hurt – she is going to lose trust in the relationship fast and will become spiteful. You have to learn to handle her with tactful words, and to say something like, I love how you take care of.... However, I think I can handle this one myself.

On the other hand, it could be, You have been trying so hard to take care of everything for so long, I think it is time I take care of..... These tactful words are going to flatter her, but also show what you think, and what you are going to do about a situation right now.

7 Top Reasons Why Your Woman Require More Time, Attention And Reassurance From You

Some men find that their woman is driving them crazy with insecurities and require way too much attention, but the truth is that women are gentle creatures who just want to have some meaning in their life. Men may see some women as needy, but most of the time it is just because they are looking for someone to love them so much.

Seven Reasons Why Your Woman Requires More Time

1. One reason why a woman requires more time is the fact that women are very sensitive and they feel more for their mate. They constantly want to be closer to their mate because they feel that the relationship gets stronger over time.
2. Also women require more time because women feel that they need to express their feelings all the time. Unlike a man, a woman needs to be expressive and show their emotions. When a woman is in love, she wants to be with her mate so that she can express herself.
3. Women need to be needed; by spending time with a woman you are validating their life. By sharing your time with a woman you are telling her that you want her around and that makes her feel more secure.
4. Insecurity gets the best of women. Again validating her and her feelings is just one of the most important reasons why you need to show a woman more time. With insecurity, a mind runs wild, and it will strain the relationship.
5. It could be true that most women are happier being around their mate because they make them happy. Nothing seems that important to a woman in love other than being in love.
6. Most of the time women demand more time is because women fear loneliness. Women are more likely to get lonely. Women need to have a champion to be there for her when she's sad or happy.
7. Some women feel that they need excitement in their life to fill whole. It doesn't mean you have to be a daredevil, but the laughter and release of some hormones make women feel full of life.

However, there are major differences between men and women and most of them are evident. The difference between a man and a woman when it comes to reassurance is that most men don't need to be validated. Men do crave attention from women, but they don't need it all the time.

A well-balanced man can spend the day with his girlfriend and go through the entire next day without having to see them. A well-balanced woman could possibly go through the entire day without seeing them, but a few phone calls have to be made or the day doesn't seem right. A man with good self-esteem does not need to be reassured every day that the relationship is fine and that their partner loves them.

Some women are lucky in this area and don't need reassurances, but most women feel that they aren't good enough or that there is someone better than them. Women are insecure because of all the public hype over having to be perfect to be truly loved.

The only thing that a man should do if they find that they are dating an insecure woman is to sit down and have a talk. By sitting down and talking about what makes them insecure and what can be done to let them know that they are beautiful and that they are loved. Even though a woman knows that their mate loves them, it's always nice to hear it every now and then. By being tentative and emotional expressive to a woman, the insecurities should diminish.

Even though some women are over sensitive or overly needy, you should not compromise your entire self to fit into the relationship. Some couples are better off not in a relationship together than others. However, if you really want to keep a long term relationship or marriage work, you only have a few things that you absolutely must do. First, surprise her every now and then. Bring home a rose or make her breakfast in bed just because you love her.

Tell the love of your life just how much you love her everyday, just because it could be the last day you two spend together. In addition, the last key to making a successful relationship last is to pick your battles. If you know that, she's just in a mood because she lost her job or something tragic happened, let it go.

If you notice her trying to pick a fight to let some steam out, just tell her that you love her and give her a hug. However, for those important issues you should stand your ground so that at the end of the day you still feel like you know whom you are and you want to be in the relationship.

The problem with men is that they don't know when to walk away. Insecure women will let you know that they are insecure with petty fights and the "where have you been" tone. There are so many things that you can say to a woman to make her feel better about herself and the relationship, but there are so many more things you should never say to a woman.

First, never compare her to her mother. Women spend their entire lives avoiding turning into their mother that it would be completely the end of the world for her to hear something like that. Another thing, don't comment on her behavior. Don't tell her she's over reacting and never call her crazy. Writing off her feelings is the worst. However, you can suggest that you both walk away from the situation and come back to each when both parties are ready to look at the situation calmly.

The key to staying in a long lasting and loving relationship is communication. Sit down have a talk with your mate. Validate her feelings and acknowledge them. Don't dismiss any of her feelings, nor should she dismiss any of your feelings. Sometimes it's just best to walk away and cool down before approaching the issues that come up in a relationship.

Proven Tips That Would Work In Seconds To Help Your Woman Who Is Always Feeling Neurotic And Insecure

You may think that your mate is neurotic and insecure, but can you blame her? The way that some guys treat a good woman and the way the media portrays woman, it is no wonder that a woman would question their mate's intentions every now and then.

Do you have it in you to stick by her side and tell her that you love her?

If you want to see the relationship through all you have to do is follow your heart and show her honesty. Eight Proven Tips that Would Work In seconds to Help your Woman Who is Always Feeling Neurotic and Insecure.

1. Make sure she knows why you love her and why you stay in the relationship. Let her know every now and then what made her stand out among the rest and why you love to spend time with her. You can take out a book of photos and go through every moment that you fell in love with her.
2. Take her out and allow her to get all dressed up. Women feel more confident and beautiful when they are given the opportunity to doll themselves up for their man. You should make a night out every now and then where you wine and dine her. If you are on a tight budget, make a special dinner for her, but still dress for the occasion.
3. Bring her unexpected gifts. The gifts don't have to be big, expensive, or fancy. It could be something that she mentioned she needed. For example, maybe she needed a light bulb changed in her chandelier. The next night, come over with a bulb and ladder. This also lets her know that not only you care, but you listen to her every word.
4. Plain and simple; tell her that you love her. Tell her every now and then that she means the world to you. You may think that you show her you love her, but she needs to hear it every now and then.
5. Let her know that you are committed to the relationship. Sit down and talk to her every now and then. Ask her about her day. Ask her about how she feels. Talk the insecurities out.
6. Spend more time with her. If you feel that you have more extra time lately, try to spend it on her or spend your time on trying to find ways to heal the relationship.
7. You can always try to distract her. If you haven't had that much time on your hands and she's starting to wonder about the relationship, distract her with a pet. Yes, buy her a dog, a cat, a bird, whatever you think she'd like. It'll take the focus off of you so much.
8. Finally, try to validate her feelings. If she feels that you haven't been a great boyfriend lately, discuss it. Maybe you haven't been. Try to look it from her point of view.

Even though you think your girl is being ridiculous, her friends wouldn't think so. That's because woman are insecure all the times about everything. They don't think they are pretty enough, they aren't smart enough, that they just aren't good enough to find their prince and happy ever after.

The media doesn't help either. Women are killing themselves because they feel they need to be less than 100 pounds. Women are going under the knife because they feel that they need to be busty. All because they want to impress a guy or have more dates. That doesn't say much about how shallow women think men are.

If you want to know exactly what a woman needs to be happy in a relationship with you is just your time, attention, affection, and love. Pay attention to her; listen to what she has to say even if it means nothing to you. Show her that you want her by romantic bedroom settings. Show her passion. Above all tell her that you love her. You may think that she knows, but she has no idea how much you love her until you tell. Yes, actions speak louder than words, but you need to reinforce your actions by saying the words.

It's not hard to recognize a neurotic and insecure woman. Some women can hide it better than most, but every woman is to some degree insecure. The most confident woman is insecure about something. She maybe very confident in a bathing suit, but standing in front of a room filled with businessmen might make her want to hide. You will find that some women are needy more than others, but they all require the same things. The truth, affection, and love from a man are all that most women want.

If you want to stay in a relationship, but you still have no idea what she wants from you, all you have to do is remember a few things. Tell her that you love her, cuddle up to her when she's had a hard day, and be honest. By following those simple tips and by keeping your communication lines open you should have a healthy relationship. You should be able to reassure her of your commitment and your relationship could flourish.

Even though you may think that your girl is going crazy, she's just worried. She's worried that she thinks more of the relationship than you do. By simply reassuring her that you are a good man with morals and integrity you have the bases of a good relationship. A relationship is a give and take and both parties need to work at it. Everything can be resolved by talking it through.

The Way Man Experiences The World As A Man And The Way A Woman Experiences The World As A Woman

A man sees the entire world differently than the way a woman would see the world. They see the world differently based on their gender expectations, their emotional levels, sexuality, professional lives, goals that the media has influenced, the way they see themselves, and in life in general. Men think entirely differently, what women think. Women see the slightest details of life and men tend to see the whole picture instead of the little things.

When it comes to seeing the world in the way that the media depicts the goals for men and woman they are completely barbaric.

Men have to be tough and professional and sleek, while woman are just there to be pretty. The media in the way they talk about woman make them seem like they are only slaves to the patriotic world. However, history has noted woman as strong individuals. When it comes to men, they have to be smart, educated, finely dressed, and professional.

They are the ones who become lawyers, heroes, and successful. This had affected both men and woman. Most men feel that their simple, blue collar lives are not good enough and that they have disappointed someone. Women spend thousands of dollars and hours of their time trying to be something they aren't because it's the way the media portrays them.

It comes down to the way they see themselves. Men are to be sleek Romeo's that can talk any woman into bed and then get up the next morning live this fast life. Women are to wait for their husbands to get home with a cigar in one hand and a glass of brandy in the other while wearing a teddy. Today women see themselves as polite ladies who secretly have to be wild in the bedroom.

Many women spend their entire lives trying to prove to the world that they are just as good as a man. It's hard to say that they are when woman still don't get paid nearly as much as a man does. The glass ceiling keeps all women in the kitchen. However, men still feel that they have to be Romeo. It seems that men still brag about the women they go home with and all their professional achievements.

Why do women feel they have to prove themselves and why are many so charming? It was the expectations that were given to them even as a child. Little boys were saving lives playing with their G.I. Joes and girls were accessorizing their Barbie dream house.

These roles that men and woman play are given to each child before they are even in school. Society has made the roles that men and women play and nothing will ever change them.

Taking the topic into small areas, professionally women are still under the glass ceiling. They can see the top, but most women don't make it to the top. However, the world is changing in the professional world. Men and women are becoming more equal. A man, professionally, can do whatever it is that his heart desires.

They can be judges, doctors, dancers, actors, and even the President of the United States. Although there are many female doctors, dancers, actors, and judges, have you ever heard of a female President of the United States? Professionally, women are still experience the world as cute secretaries.

One level of life that will never make women and men equal is the emotional level. Men experience life very differently than women. They go through a lot of stages in their lives that are hurtful and stressful. The sad thing about men is that they are taught not to show any emotion by their parents. If a little girl cries, parents react by cuddling them, but if a little boy cries parents tend to yell at them. They are taught at a young age that crying is unacceptable.

This could be the reason why many men have issues with their father. They think that their father was too harsh. Men aren't emotional because they socially aren't allowed to be. Women feel that men are too cold, but they don't realize that as a mother they are more likely to yell at their son for crying than their daughter.

It's a double-edged sword. As child, men are taught to refrain and then as men, they are expected to share and open up. It just doesn't work that way. Most men feel that their mate is overly expressive, but that is comparing them to men. Men expect women not to be so needy or whiny, but, again, it's how women were raised as a child. Again, it is a double-edged sword.

Sexually is one level that woman are trying to take over. Women are just as sexually as men. Women go for sex and like sex just as much as a man. Women are aggressive when it comes to sex because that's what they think men want. Men tend to be sexually aggressive, but a majority is shy about the subject.

Most men expect their women to be non aggressive when it comes to sex. Society has begun to change. They picture women as aggressive if not more aggressive. In some scenarios, men are shown as the shy one. It is just one way that you can see how the media has changed the roles for men and women.

The world is changing. Women are becoming just as good as men and soon the world will just major changes. The world is already seeing changes in male and female roles, because men are being seen as shy, non aggressive, while women are being shown as wild, aggressive species.

Taking A Peek Into Her Inner World: What Does A Woman Feel About Dating and How Is It Different From Men? What Turns Her On In Dating?

There are different views on dating for men and women. Many of them think of their perfect partner as something completely different from what someone else would. This is not unusual because all people are different. There are no two people that think exactly the same and this is true with relationships as well.

There have been many studies done to try and figure out what a woman wants in a man and the other way around. This is not exact science and there are many things to consider when thinking about it. It really boils down to the person and what they want to have in a relationship with a partner. Do they want to have a serious relationship that will turn into marriage down the road? Is this just a fling that will fade after a while? These are all things that people will ask themselves when they are in a relationship of any kind.

Many women think they know what they want and instead they go after something completely different. This is not uncommon and it is usually the way that a woman truly figures out what they want and need in a man. Every man has a different personality and there are certain women that only want a certain “quality” of man.

What they want for their love life

Women want different things when it comes to their love life and the man of their dreams. It is no lie that every woman wants to have a sensitive man that will fulfill all of her needs both physically and emotionally as well. However, it is also true that a great sex life is one of the most important keys to a great relationship. There are some women that have broken it off with a man because of the sex and either lack of it or for lack of satisfaction.

Most women think of their man in many different ways when it comes to the lover personality that they have. Many women want their guy to have a bad boy sense about him. This will excite the woman and get their love life off to a heated start. Adventure is a great factor to have in any relationship for sex and romance. He should be a seducer but not slimy. Dirty talk is fine to a point but there is no need to be vulgar. Most women want someone to move them both physically and emotionally and add some energy and even some complexity to the relationship.

What women want in dating?

Most women want to have the perfect date. This can include anything from an energetic night out on the town to a romantic dinner for two at home. Most importantly woman want to be treated with respect and dignity. No woman or man for that matter wants to be treated like a possession. They may want to be pampered and spoiled a little but they do not want to be treated like a child or made to feel incompetent. This is a very important thing to many women and will not want the guy to do too much for them and at the same time they will want him to show courtesy and use their gentleman skills. They just want to have a regular guy that will love them for who they are and not want anything buy love in return.

There are some women that just want to find a great guy that will treat her good and spend the rest of her life with him, while there are others that will go the distance to find someone that is successful and provides them with a good life. They are going to want the passion and the great kisses as well as guy that will go to the ends of the earth for them no matter what they ask.

What should you say on a date

Many times a woman will feel a little shy or embarrassed on a first date. They will not know what to say or how to act with a guy. When this is the case, they may seem a little stuck up or not interested. It is important to make sure that you are acting like yourself and let your true personality shine through.

Never act fake on a date. You do not want to be someone that you are not. Make sure that you ask the questions that you want to know so that you are getting to know the guy better. This will help you understand if you want to continue the relationship or if you are wasting your time. Do not be afraid to let yourself go and find out what you came there to do.

You should never get too attached in the first few dates. You will want to make sure that you are not letting your guard down too quickly. You are not expected to fall in love overnight and you do not want to scare the guy off with those three little words that make most men run away screaming, I LOVE YOU! These are the words that can end a relationship before it even begins.

Keep your independence

It is important to stay true to yourself and keep your self-respect. You will want to make sure that you are having fun but do not get too close to the point that you are letting your emotions take over your brain. You need to stay focused and remember what you want and go after it. Be true to yourself and make sure that you are keeping your independence and your self-respect.

Finding a man should not mean sacrificing your independence your own life dreams and goals. Remember to have fun and keep an open mind and you will find the perfect man to spend the rest of your days with.

A Peek Into Her Inner World: How To Deal With A Woman Who Is A Commitment Phobia

There is so much information out there that is claiming to help people with a commitment phobia. There are actually many women as well as men that have this problem with a relationship and need to find a way to get passed it so that they can live a happy life with someone that they can love. Many women are confused and need to find help with their commitment issues.

You can learn to recognize the symptoms if your partner is really scared of commitment. You need to find out if this is something that you can work past of it is a commitment issue that will never be resolved completely. Sometimes if the relationship is not working, it is easier to blame the other person or something else instead of taking the responsibility on his or her own.

It is important that you find out about the commitment phobia problems in the beginning so that you are not spending too much wasted time on a woman. You will see the signs and if you are not sure about what the problem is, you can think about the following definition of commitment phobia and figure it out from there.

What is commitment phobia?

Commitment phobia is the fear of commitment. Men are usually considered more likely to have this problem but there are many women that have this issue as well. There are researchers that say that we are happier and healthier when we are in a committed relationship. There can be many different reasons why people do not want to commit. Some of these reasons are the following.

There are signs of not wanting to get close in a relationship. The woman will try and distance herself from the man and make it apparent that they are not interested in getting too attached and taking the relationship to the next step.

Bad relationship in the past

If a woman has had a bad relationship in the past, they are going to be more likely to have commitment phobia. It is important for the person to have some time and make sure that they are able to trust the man and feel comfortable with them that this relationship is not going to repeat itself.

Fear of being bored

Another reason a woman is afraid of commitment is because she is afraid that she will lose the excitement in their relationship. She is afraid that she will settle into a routine, there will be no room for fun, the relationship could become restless, and she will have to look for some other form of excitement.

There may be a better prospect out there

Some woman have a commitment phobia because they are afraid that they are going to find someone else that is just a little bit better. They may find a man with a better job, better car and more potential for a successful future. This is something this is superficial and disturbing about this behavior. If you are in a relationship like this with a woman or you are feeling this way, you need to get out of the partnership before someone gets hurt.

Try to get help in your relationship

If you are really committed to the woman that has the commitment phobia, you need to try and figure out what you are going to do. If the woman is willing to try and find a way to commit, then you should stick it out as long as you can. If there are no signs of change, you should get your mind and body prepared to move on. This means that this relationship is only going to hold you down and it is not going to be worth your time.

How to avoid commitment phobia

If you are not sure how to deal with some form of commitment phobia, you can do a few things to make it a little easier to let your relationship flow onto the next step. The first thing that you need to do when your partner is not ready to commit is understand that it is not your fault. Gain back your self-esteem and realize that you are a great catch and they are missing out.

Do not take rejection too personally. You will want to make sure that you are able to take the rejection and move on. If you think that you are wasting your time on a woman that is not willing to commit, you need to move on. If you cannot help her, you are going to only be setting yourself up for disappointment later.

The best thing that you can do to avoid commitment phobia is to stay true to your feelings. Now what you want and go after it. If someone is not ready to take on the relationship full blast like you, it is time to move on and get on with your life. Never sacrifice your own personally happiness for the lack of commitment from any woman.

What Does Woman Feel About Her Love And Relationship?

The meaning of the words love and relationship can be different from a man to a woman. There are many men and woman that think the same and others that do not even come close to what their true definition of the words mean. These views are going to determine how well a relationship can go and what the differences are between the thoughts of men and women.

What is the meaning of love to a woman?

The meaning of love is different to everyone. Many people have not yet found love therefore; they are not sure what the meaning is to them. This is something that they will have to find out for themselves so that they can get the answers they need to find the true love of their life.

The meaning of love to a woman is when they find someone that they can feel completely comfortable with and they want to spend the rest of their days with them. It is also when there is no shame, no embarrassment, no boundaries and nothing can turn you from this person. This means that a woman wants to spend every waking moment with their true love and when they are not with them physically, they will be with them emotionally.

What do women think about their love and relationships?

Each woman will have a different feeling when it comes to her relationship. They will sometimes have happy feelings and other times they will be unhappy or dissatisfied. If a woman is feeling this way, they are going to have to find a way to make the relationship better and make the woman feel better about their commitment and feelings for them.

Some woman is very happy with their partner and relationship. They are feeling more in love than ever and never want the feeling to go away. They will have everything that they want and be completely in love with their partner and want to spend the rest of their days with them. This is when they know that this is a committed relationship that will eventually go the distance.

When a woman is not happy in her relationship, they are going to be depressed and unhappy. They may have emotional outbreaks that will leave them crying and upset at any given time. This is something that a woman needs to deal with and figure out why they are feeling this way. If a woman is not happy with their relationship, she will have to figure out how to make it better because happiness is the only way to be truly satisfied all of the time.

The feeling of complete satisfaction

When a woman is in a truly committed relationship, they are going to be able to feel better and more confident in their relationship. They are going to want to shout it out to the world that they are living their dream. When a woman has complete trust and confidence in their man, they are able to live better and make the most of their life. They can then think about the next step and where the future is going for them. This is the feeling of complete satisfaction and every man and woman deserves to have this at some stage in his or her life.

When a man is cheating

If a woman has a partner that is cheating or has cheated on her, this can leave her with mixed emotions. They are going to feel very self-conscious and disrespected. They will find it hard to get that trust factor back and for some relationships, it may be lost forever. This is something that a woman has to deal with and take the responsibility on for herself. She will need to make the necessary changes to get her life in order and to make the most of her future and the love that is waiting for her somewhere.

Depression in love

Feeling depressed or unwanted is not uncommon for a lot of woman. They are not going to feel like they are attractive and worthwhile if something has happened in their love life or in a relationship, which has disturbed their trust. Many women fall into a depression and will have a hard time getting out of it. It is important for them to have their friends and family around them so that they can gain the support and encouragement that they deserve to get their self-respect back.

Taking the control back is one way to make sure that a woman gets the love that she deserves in her life. She needs to make sure that she knows what she wants and how to go after it. This will bring her closer to getting the love and the relationship that she needs in her life.

RESOURCES

If You Really Enjoy Your Relationship Life, Don't Read This!

An Ordinary Woman Discovers The Secret Of Saving Her Relationship And Make Love Work For Her Again Using A Potent 4-Step Strategy. The Good News Is, It Works For Any Man or Woman!

Bring Back The Love Of Your Life!
- A Potent 4-Step Strategy!

Click Here

You can stop getting the man or woman you want the hard way! Discover the Insider Secrets to getting the Man or Woman That You Desire!

With this book, you could find, attract & win over the heart of your Mr / Mrs Right!

- Be ready to be adored, desired, touched!

108 EASY WAYS